Any Elevator Will Handle Board Wheat

In addition to accepting farmers' grain for outright purchase in the usual manner, every line elevator in Western Canada acts as agent for the Canadian Wheat Board in receiving, handling, making payment for and shipping Board wheat. Ever since the formation of the Board the line elevator companies have been lending all possible assistance to the Board in their operations and have placed their grain handling organizations at the disposal of the Board. Any farmer, whether he wishes to sell his grain outright or through the Canadian Wheat Board, can do so at any line elevator.

M. N. Rensberger, Former Local Resident Dies at La Verne, Calif.

Word has been received from La Verne, California, of the death of Mr. Melvin N. Rensberger, who resided in this district for a number of years.

Mr. Rensberger and family came to the district about 1918. He was a farmer and he also worked some at carpentering. He and his family lived on the hills south of the Norton farm east of town. After that they lived on the Culp farm and later on Eisenbise land. About 1924 Mr. Rensberger left for California, where he has resided ever since.

The following is taken from the La Verne Leader:

Melvin N. Rensberger, son of Samuel Rensberger and Martha Hess Rensberger, was born on July 24, 1863 near Goshen, Indiana and passed away, at his home in La Verne, Sept. 19th, 1935, aged 72 years, one month and twenty-six days.

Mr. Rensberger lived a busy and varied life. He was reared on a farm, but a desire for an education beyond that offered in the public schools led him to Longport, Ind., where he attended American State Normal and prepared himself for teaching. This vocation he followed for six years, all of which time was spent teaching in the elementary schools of Elkhart County, Ind.

At an early age he accepted Christ as his Savior and when at the age of 27 years he was called to the ministry he felt the need of more training so that he might better serve his Master and his church in that capacity.

He spent two years in college at Mount Morris, Ill., and in the fall of 1887 entered Manchester college as a one of its charter students. Later he acted in the capacity as trustee of the college. The years 1900-1901 were spent superintending the Brethren's Home at Green.

Lady Luck Concentrates

Speaking of the world series and the numerous "sweepstakes" in connection, Lady Luck seems to have concentrated on the Mackie-Johnston family at Namaka.

In the first four games, the accompanying "pools" all went to boost the one family's cash on hand. Mrs. Mackie won the first, her mother the second, daughter came to bat to collect the third, and father clicked to make the cash quartet complete - Calgary Herald.

The Relief Expenditure Burden

With the Federal elections over and the political complexion of the next Parliament of Canada defined, the government of the country will be faced with a number of important problems to decide, and not the least of these is the question of the steps which must be taken to ease the debt burden of governmental units in Western Canada.

By governmental units is meant the governments of the provinces and of the municipalities, urban and rural.

During the past five years the public finances of the Western Canadian provinces and of the municipalities, which are their creatures, have been strained to the breaking point to meet the problems which drought and general unemployment have brought in their train.

Not only has the public purse of the Western provinces and of the municipalities been depleted in the struggle to enable their citizens should not starve, freeze or go shelterless in their grim fight against great odds, but they have been obliged to pledge their future resources, to an alarming extent, to enable the citizens of the present generation to keep their heads above water.

In the three prairie provinces millions of dollars have been spent to furnish a substantial percentage of the population with food, fuel and clothing, and in the urban centres with shelter as well; and this, despite the fact that the Federal government has also contributed large sums to bolster up the provinces and the municipalities in their fight to ensure the necessities of life for their people.

In addition, however, to the money which has been expended out of current revenues these provincial and municipal governments have pledged many more millions of dollars against the credit of the future, exerting power of the people, a debt which will have to be liquidated in the future either by the taxpayers of to-day or by the rising generation, or a combination of both.

Without going into statistics which, at the best, make dry reading, it is axiomatic to say that the indebtedness which has been piled up on this point, directly and indirectly, reaches a staggering total and has passed the figure which is within the competence of these governmental units to meet from existing resources.

One of the conditions contributing to the existing condition of the finances of the Western provinces and municipalities is the inequity of the distribution of the tax burden as between individual taxpayers and the inequity of the distribution of the bases of taxation as between the federal, provincial and municipal governing entities.

The financial situation which has developed as a result of these inequities is one which will have to be faced and remedied by the newly-elected Parliament if the Western provinces and municipalities are to remain solvent and are to be enabled to extricate themselves from a position which has become intolerable.

So far as the municipal governments are concerned, their financial plight has been accentuated by practical limitation to reality as, at least, the principal tax base, and this applies to both rural and urban, only in different degrees. Land has more than passed the limit of its endurance as a source of revenue for governments. Other spheres of taxation are denied to the municipalities, and this is one discriminatory feature which will have to be remedied.

In seeking additional sources of revenue municipalities are cramped by legislative action of their superior provinces and the provinces in turn are hampered by Federal authority.

What is needed is a nationwide conference in which the municipalities can get together with the provinces and the Dominion and, in a spirit of tolerance and recognition of the difficulties of one another, come to an agreement which will provide for specific distribution of spheres of taxation and a definite understanding that the several governmental units will not in future encroach upon one another's taxation preserves.

This understanding should be translated into legislative enactment and if it involves amendments to the British North America Act, as undoubtedly it would, efforts should be made to secure the necessary sanction.

The problem of relief, it has been reiterated by competent authorities time and again, is a national problem. The provinces have said so, the municipalities have said so and the rural municipalities hold the same view, even if they have not adopted resolutions in convention to that effect.

If the Federal government is not prepared to recognize the situation in the west as a national problem, the only alternative is for the Dominion government to make it possible for the provinces and municipalities to liquidate past, present and future expenditures by providing them with the machinery to levy the money where the money is available.

Strange City In Arabia

Streets Of Lamm Lined With Ruins Of Many Palaces

Lamu, an ancient Arabian city of mystery, is built on a little island not far from Mombasa, in the Kenya Colony. The streets of this strange municipality, which are so narrow and that the sun scarcely even shines in them, are lined with the ruins of many palaces. The inhabitants of Lamu are descendants of the old Persians who founded a colony on the island about A.D. 700, and are very proud of their aristocratic origin and traditions, for more than a thousand years ago their ancestors had produced great poets, architects and jewelers. The population makes a living by cultivating coconuts, by fishing and collecting ambergris.

Norway Has Quer Tax "Spurrow tax" is a levy most annoying to the farmers of Jylkvi, Norway, and is one of the most unusual in Europe. For prayers offered up by the pastor of the Nyrikken Church at Bergen against crop ruin by the birds, each farmer must pay 30 kroner annually, or about $7.50. The tillers of the soil say that they receive little for their money, since the sparrows continue to attack the harvests.

Arabs Find New Work

Motor Car Has Changed History Of The Bedouins

The London Sunday Express says the Bedouins in Arabia have, from time immemorial, lived by transporting goods across the desert on their camels. To-day the motor car is displacing the camel as the ship of the desert. So the Bedouins are seeking a new livelihood. In the Arab Kingdoms they have begun to grow corn where it never grew before. They are settling down and building cities for the first time. The motor car is changing the map of the world. It is changing the history of the peoples.

Lauds Canadian Flyers

Rear Admiral Byrd Says Dominion Pilots Best For Arctic Exploration

A tribute to Canada's naval and army flyers was paid at Toronto by Rear-Admiral Byrd, famous United States Antarctic explorer. Replying to Mayor Simpson's welcome, the civic recipient outside of city hall, Admiral Byrd said Canadians knew more of polar flying than any other pilots. Long experience flying over snow and ice and in sub-zero weather made them excellent pilots for Arctic or Antarctic expeditions, he said.

Beauty In Old London

Pictures Of Infinite Variety Can Be Seen From Great Bridges

Old St. Paul's, perched high on Ludgate Hill, once a commanding position, is being gradually crowded out by other buildings. The most impressive sight of Wren's venerable cathedral is that looking from Fleet-street up Ludgate Hill. I have heard jaded newspaper men, familiar with Fleet-street at all hours of the day and night, grow lyrical about the loveliness of that glimpse of St. Paul's at dawn.

A great white London seems to have sprung up like magic. But it has not obliterated the past, and one of the charms of a walk through the city is the unexpected glimpses one gets through its narrow courts and alleys of old taverns, little shops, and ivied churches that have stood unchanging through the centuries.

It has been said that one must walk a hundred yards in London without seeing a bunch of trees. That is almost completely true. In fact, there are enough trees in the London streets and squares to make up, if placed together, a very respectable forest. Who has ever noted that there are over seventy trees in the Strand?

But nothing excels the river views. Wherever one looks, or from whatever angle of the seven great bridges from the Tower to Lambeth, there is picture after picture of infinite variety and beauty. At night, when the Embankment sparkles with its thousand lights, the view from the bridges of London's curving water-front has the quality of pure magic. No Whistler nocturne could do it justice.—Overseas Daily Mail

Colored snow fell on the Australian Alps for the second time this winter. It changed the landscape around Hotham Heights from white to chocolate within a few hours, while at Mt. A Rainbow Snow Storm

Beautiful Layers Of Varied Colors Fell On Australian Alps

Colored snow fell on the Australian Alps for the second time this winter. It changed the landscape around Hotham Heights from white to chocolate within a few hours, while at Mt. Buller the inhabitants woke to see a bright red layer on the snow, half an inch deep. By noon heavy snow had blotted out the red layer. The most remarkable fall at St. Bernard's Hospice, where pink snow fell in two layers, an inch and a half thick, with a 6-inch strip glittering white snow sandwiched between.

The aeronautics industry in the United States produced $44,000,000 worth of aircraft and parts in 1934.

Why do they call it a grandstand when everybody sits down?

One hundred sixty-six thousand acres of land were set aside by China for an experiment in raising cotton from American cotton seed.

Thousands of Canadian families have already gained greater freedom from colds—with the help of the famous Vick's Plan for Better Control of Colds.

Developed by the makers of Vick's VapoRub, this home guide to fever and shorter colds is common sense and medically sound. It is based on 30 years of practical experience and research by Vick's Chemists, specializing in the study of colds. Its worth has been demonstrated not only in everyday home use, but also in extensive clinical tests under medical supervision.

And now—to introduce Vick's Plan to more families in this section—local druggists are distributing free trial packages containing complete details of the Plan and samples of the Vick's Colds-Control Aids.

And In Preventing Many Colds Discovery of Vick's Vapo-nol, unique aid in preventing colds, made Vick's Plan possible. Especially designed for use in the upper throat, it keeps the colds start—Vapo-nol aids and stimulates Nature's own power to prevent many colds, and to throw off head colds in the early stages.

Vapo-nol is easy and convenient to use—any time or place. Just a few drops up each nostril at the first nasal irritation, sniffle or sneeze. Used in this way, it helps to avoid many colds.
